Lucien Lasley's Letter.

[To the Editor of the Interior Journal.]

NASHVILLE, Jan. 21.—Nashville is a beautiful city built in a field of mounds, and therefore well drained. And well is it so for it rains here continually and profusely while at it. The first sun of the year is showing out a little this evening; while the earth is spongy with recent rains and the Cumberland swollen to threatening fullness, while all its tributaries kiss the bridges they pass under, murmuring jealously onward, bearing a little ocean to the sea. Nasville was taken during the war by Gen. Buell, but not moved away, as is evident by some conspicuous old landmarks that are to be seen. The Vanderbilt University is out in the western suburbs and the grounds join the grounds of that wonderful adversity, the race track; which of the two improvements affords the most diversity is open to controversy. At any rate, my opinion can not be had until after the spring races.

There are something over 90 horses here at present and many more to come soon; among the latter the wonderful El Rio Rey. It will be the ambition of every trainer here to beat him, and a plume in the cap of the successful one. Should a Lincoln horse beat him, Stanford must be ready to illuminate. The Lincoln horses shipped well and are doing well. There are two in the stables named for two of Stanford's handsome and deserving young ladies and they (the fillies) are much admired by the horsemen here. Wonder what they (the horsemen) would do could they see the two ladies in whose honor the two are named! Tennesseeans, much like Kentuckians, love their own soil and horses, but many of them are away to Kentucky for wives, as you know some Virginians are glad to have done. Well, it displays fine taste, for there are none like 'em. One sometimes thinks when he receives the hearty welcome accorded Kentuckians everywhere they go that it must be due to the fame of Kentucky women, for the men—well, they do not seem to be so deserving where we know them well; perhaps they are on good manners away from home.

One issue of the I. J. has reached us here, and even the ads. were read. Nothing like it away from home. 'Tis a letter from everybody to everybody, and those not mentioned are supposed to be well or to be engaged in nothing unusual; or nothing, as usual. Dick sings, whistles, cogitates and recites Western experiences to keep off the blues, and pokes the fire to keep warm. Hope his patience will last till time to work him a few heats every morning; then it is 19 to 1 he keeps off the blues.

For fear I tell all I know this time and can not write again,

I am yours, SILENCE.

In Memoriam.

The sons of the valley have just fallen over the remains of a beloved citizen, whom God in His infinite wisdom has taken from us to the Heavenly land—Thomas Carson. Twenty-four years and seven months was the brief period allotted him on earth. In the bloom of youthful manhood and in the beauty of a good character, he has left the home of which he was the only protection of his widowed mother and sister, caring for them with a loving solicitude. Of him it might be truthfully said we had a kind word for all and said harm of none, and with young associates kind and accommodating. Leaving his mother and sister so unprotected was his greatest regret in dying. But ere the messenger brought the final summons he was reconciled and when assured he was just passing to another world, he expressed himself as going to a brighter one and not afraid to die. He called his mother and sisters to his bedside and bade them an affectionate farewell.

Oh, that good-bye, mother! How sad, was it forever! But we have the blessed assurance of a fearless and unborken reunion of the loved ones, when life's weary pilgrimage is ended. Then let us mourn their departure from this world, where every joy is shadowed by a grief. It should rather be a cause for congratulation.

The remains were lovingly borne by kind friends and relatives to their last resting place in Buffalo Cemetery, after an impressive service at the Presbyterian church, of which he was a member.

Dear mother and sisters, look to the only source from whence cometh all comfort and consolation in a trying hour. The hand that smites can also heal. And with our heartfelt sympathy for the loss of so devoted a son and brother, we commend the bereaved to the ever watchful and loving care of our Heavenly Father.

A FRIEND.

Crab Orchard, Jan. 24, 1890.

The surgeons of Governor Hospital, New York, performed the Cesarean operation to try and save the life of an unborn babe after the death of its mother. Only half a minute elapsed from the time the woman breathed her last till the little babe, a boy, was taken away through an incision in the abdomen. It only lived long enough to show it was alive by a convulsive fit.

JUNCTION CITY, BOYLE COUNTY.

—It is reported that the factory will in a few days close for repairs.

—Among the guests at the McCullum House is a 10½ pound boy who arrived on the 22d inst.

—Mr. A. Tribble, who has rented the Cumberland Hotel at Middlesboro, will take possession 1st prox. He tells me he was offered $300 per foot for a lot on Cumberland Ave., in that city, which offer he refused.

—Mr. Hilton's drawing ticket number 2962 gets the cart, ticket held by Mr. McCauley, operator for the C. S. Ticket 4639 the stove, 1908 the clock. The latter have not been claimed as yet.

—Capt. Raines, applicant for the postmastership at Lebanon, was in town Monday. I understand he has been endorsed for the place by every republican member of the Kentucky legislature.

—Mr. James Surber, an excellent young business man of this place, has been appointed a gauger and left last week, accompanied by Mrs. Surber, to report for duty. He will be assigned in Anderson county.

—The law just passed by the legislature ordering a vote on local option in Boyle county is much talked of here as this is the only place in the county save our suburb, Shelby City, where there are saloons. There will be a hard fight.

—Mr. R. Parks, of Harrodsburg, was in town Monday. T. R. Ware, agent at Pineville, and wife, passed through Sunday returning from a visit to Mrs. Ware's mother, Mrs. Graham, at Danville. Mr. T. D. Campbell and wife, of Carlisle, were here Friday en route home from a visit to relatives at Parksville. Miss Pattie Tribble was home Saturday and Sunday from Daughters' College, Harrodsburg.

—The report in the Advocate from the committee appointed to inspect and report as to the needs of the county poorhouse, to sell the present poor farm and buy better land, meets with approval with nearly all of our citizens. The Hardin county poor-house is self sustaining. It is located in a good, rich portion of the county and has a fine brick building. During a very pleasant visit to that county I saw it. There is no good reason known to me why the same excellent state of affairs should not exist in our county, which is certainly as well favored as old Hardin. Still they have set the example. Let us imitate them. The matter is now in the hands of the county court.

—Branaman's Side of the Bastard-Infanticide Case.

To the Editor of the Interior Journal.

BEECH, Jan. 25.—I am not a subscriber to your valuable paper, but have been a reader of it for years and hope you will allow me space in it till I give your Mt. Vernon correspondent a few facts in regard to myself, as he is mistaken, or has been misinformed. So far as the case against Jennie Laman is concerned, I have nothing to do with it. It is a case of the Commonwealth against her. The writ was sworn out by some of her kin-folks before Squire Haunans, justice of the peace, of Rockcastle. I hope your correspondent will consult the records for himself and find out that I am right; also if he will go to the records of the commonwealth court of Madison county, he will find that the case was not dismissed, as he would have you believe, but beaten by testimony introduced in the court that it was a clear case of blackmailing, gotten up by her and her mother. The verdict of the jury clearly proves this. There never was a time that the suit could not have been stopped for $30. It was principle and not money that I was defending in the court. Money was their object from the beginning and they were both disengaged to the satisfaction of 12 jurors. Now your correspondent has either got to throw the verdict of the jury away and believe her who has been disengaged in open court or throw her say-so away and believe 12 sworn men. Which will he believe?

But of course he only had one side of the case to judge from and could not do any better. I hope he will never attempt to associate my name with theirs again. He can find out all about them by asking any of their neighbors. As far as the sympathy for the girl is concerned, there are always some men ready to sympathize with such characters as she is. Respt., J. J. BRANAMAN.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Miss Mollie R. Holmes and James Hearne were married at Danville last week.

—Mr. Armstead Miller Hiatt, who is a widower of 59, came down with Mrs. Susan Renfroe, Saturday, from Crab Orchard, and they were made one flesh in Judge Varnon's most approved style. The record shows that the bride had been married three times before, altho' she is but 29. Our hearty congratulations are extended.

—Twenty-five girls in a brass factory at Birmingham, Conn., have struck because, among their grievances, the foreman had the windows painted to keep the girls from flirting with outsiders.

—The stallion, Belview, by Belmont, has been sold at Lexington for $3,500 and will be taken to England.

Anti-Saloon Meeting.

At a meeting of the citizens of Lincoln county, irrespective of party, held at the Court-house in Stanford, Jan. 25th, Mr. G. P. Bright was called to the chair and P. L. Simpson appointed secretary, when on motion the chair appointed the following committee on resolutions, viz: P. W. Carter, Crit Eubanks, J. D. Bastin, Dr. G. W. Brougham and Jos. McAlister, who reported as follows:

Resolved 1. That in the opinion of this citizens' Anti-Saloon Meeting the law passed the 11th of September, 1886, prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors in Lincoln county, has in a large measure been successful, and we desire its continuance.

2. That we call upon every voter in the county to use his influence and vote to banish forever from our county the saloon.

3. In order that the issue, saloons or no saloons, shall be brought fully before the people, competent speakers be engaged, and that this meeting appoint a committee whose duty it shall be to solicit funds to pay all necessary expenses.

4. That we, their husbands and brothers, appeal to the women of the county to rally to the defense of their homes and loved ones against the approach of the destroying dram-shop, and that they use every means consistent with Christian womanhood to defeat the saloon power.

5. That a copy of these resolutions be furnished the INTERIOR JOURNAL for publication.

While the committee was out the Rev. Ben Helm being called on delivered an excellent short speech, showing the importance of all persons who are opposed to the liquor traffic going to the polls and recording their votes against the saloon and license, high or low.

The meeting was then addressed by Rev. John Bell Gibson and Rev. Godfrey in short addresses, which were well received by the audience.

On motion, the chair appointed the following persons to act as a county committee on organization, viz: A. K. Denny, Dr. T. B. Lewis, J. B. Green, F. Edmiston, L. G. Gooch, Dr. Traylor, Isaac Hamilton, John O. Neal, Jno. Johnson, James Duddar, Sr., J. T. O'Hair and J. G. Livingston.

On motion, the chair appointed the following persons a committee to correspond with speakers to address the people on the importance of doing their duty faithfully in the approaching contest, viz: John S. Hughes, Dr. G. W. Brohaugh, Rev. Ben Helm, Jos. McAlister.

On motion, the secretary was directed to furnish a copy of the proceedings for publication in the INTERIOR JOURNAL. The meeting then adjourned.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Cumberland Avenue property is firm at from 10 to 20 per cent. advance over last week's prices and quite a number of lots on this thoroughfare have changed hands at prices ranging from $120 to $250 per foot.—Middlesboro News.

—The non-partisan temperance women who seceded from the W. C. T. U., because it is a political body, held a meeting at Cleveland, O., and selected the name "National Crusaders" for the new organization. Mrs. Ellen G. Phinney, of Ohio, was chosen president.

—The Presbyterians all over the country are getting ashamed of their "confession of faith," and a number of Presbyteries have voted in favor of its revision. The idea that a man is born damned and that infants are burning in hell not a span long is fast becoming obsolete, to the intelligence of preachers and people, be it said.

—Who preached the longest sermon on record? Paul, when he spoke boldly for the space of three months. Acts 19:8. On another occasion he preached so long that one of his congregation went to sleep and fell from the three story loft and broke his neck. Acts 20:9. To be sure Paul restored the young man to life, but as that power has passed from man, preachers should not run the risk of killing people by imposing long sermons on them.

—The Philadelphia Record knows Sam Jones perhaps better than Bro. Barnes and hence has not so exalted an idea of him. Commenting on Jones' remark, "I know the year 1890 is going to be an epochal year and some things have gone just as far as they can go," the paper says: Among the things which should not have been allowed to go so far is the patience with which the public have tolerated a religious montebank like "Rev." Sam Jones.

—Dr. Gilbert, general superintendent of the International Sunday-School Institute, held three interesting services here and succeeded in organizing a Sunday-school normal class of 27 members. Mr. W. G. Raney was elected leader and A. C. Sims secretary. The first meeting will be held in the lecture room of the Christian church next Monday evening, Feb. 3d, at 7 o'clock. The little books necessary for the course can be obtained at Mr. Sims' office on Depot street on and after Wednesday. The object of the movement is to teach Sunday-school teachers how to teach more profitably and understandingly.

—The stallion, Belview, by Belmont, has been sold at Lexington for $3,500 and will be taken to England.

T. R. Walton Starts West by Way of the East, and Tells Entertainingly Of his Travels.

RICHMOND, VA., Jan. 24, 1890.

DEAR INTERIOR.—I felt really sad when I left Stanford at an early hour Monday morning last (12:17) for Richmond, Va., via Knoxville on my roundabout way to California in pursuit of health. Having made my home in Kentucky for the last 15 years, I am very much attached to the people, and I must say that they are as kind and hospitable as I ever expect to find.

I stopped over for a day or so at Knoxville, and found it a thriving city of about 45,000 inhabitants, and increasing every day. New buildings by the score are going up; and some are as fine as any to be seen except in the largest cities.

The future of Knoxville seems to be bright. I called on Mr. M. Peyton, formerly of Stanford. He is doing splendidly; and, besides making lots of money in the practice of law, has been very successful in his investments in city property.

He is very attentive to his Kentucky friends, and I desire to thank him many times for his kindness to me.

From Knoxville to Richmond, my trip was not as pleasant as it might have been. First, I had to take the train at Knoxville at 3:40 a. m., Tuesday, in a driving rain, to reach Richmond, as I expected, at 8:55 a. m. the same day, but at Lynchburg missed connection and had to lay over there from 4 o'clock till next morning. My train was due at 2 a. m., and I was up at that time to get aboard, but it did not arrive till 6:15, and consequently another connection—at Petersburg—was missed, and I did not reach Richmond till 12 Wednesday. They say that trains on this line are nearly always behind. I know this I have not been on one that was on time since I left. I advise the readers of the INTERIOR to stick to the C. & O. for Eastern Virginia points.

My route, for the most part, was thro' a pretty country, and that which is not pleasing to the eye is instructive to the mind, if the many scenes of the late war are traced out and contemplated. I passed within three miles of Appomattox C. H., where Lee surrendered, and over the famous long and high bridge, where one of the great battles was fought, &c. & &c. From Bristol to Roanoke are some of the finest farming lands I have seen anywhere. All thro' that section the towns are being boomed, and people are making fortunes just as fast as investors in Middlesboro and Big Stone Gap. Roanoke seems to be ahead, tho' Salem, New River, Wytheville, and Pulaski are following right along. Of late in Stanford I heard little else besides the boom in Eastern Kentucky discussed, and on the train the talk was almost entirely of speculations made in the towns I have named. Lynchburg is making a great many improvements. Like Lexington, Ky., she is trying hard to have the State capital moved, and promises that Virginia shall save a million dollars if it is located there; but I don't think she'll succeed. It is the hilliest town I ever saw, not excepting Kansas City. As is generally known, the manufacture of tobacco is carried on very extensively, and the whole place is perfumed with the scent of the weed.

The weather yesterday and day before was cold, but it is warmer now. A little snow fell yesterday.

Whenever I find anything I think will interest your readers I'll write again.

T. R. WALTON.

MT. VERNON, ROCKCASTLE COUNTY.

—The case of Miss Jennie Laman, charged with infanticide, was called Friday and by agreement between the attorneys and the court bond of $500 was arranged and given for her appearance at circuit court. Mr. H. F. Turner, of Richmond, appeared for the defendant.

—A little son of Matt Pike, at Pine Hill, Saturday while fooling with a pistol accidentally fired it, the ball striking his little two-year-old sister on the hand. The ball entered near the thumb and came out at the wrist, producing a very ugly wound. The little sufferer was brought to town and the wound dressed by the doctors.

—Mr. J. M. Frazer is from Pittsburgh on the sick list. Mrs. Dr. Flannagan, of Powell's Store, Casey county, with Master Reppert, is visiting Mrs. J. W. Nesbitt, at the Newcomb Hotel, B. P. Martin, who has been so low with pneumonia at Lily, is reported a little better. Mr. Charles Higgins, of Kirksville, and Mr. Gibson, of Barbourville, are here. Mr. Waldo Hart, of Conway, after a severe tussle with the grippe, is visiting his best friend, Mr. E. B. Smith, this place. Miss Susie Bodell left yesterday for Pennsylvania.

—Harry Middleton Miller, aged 24, son of M. J. Miller, Esq., of this place, died Friday night of pneumonia, superinduced by his grippe. Last Monday week ago, being under the impression that he had sufficiently recovered from the attack of influenza to come out, he ventured out on the street in the rain and was stricken that night with pneumonia, from which he died. His parents are prostrated with grief over his early death. His mother is seriously ill. The burial took place Saturday evening in the cemetery, after services at the house.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For County Judge, THOMAS W. VARNON;
County Attorney, JOSEPH B. PAXTON;
County Clerk, GEORGE B. COOPER;
Sheriff, J. N. MENESEE;
Jailer, SAMUEL M. OWENS;
Assessor, E. D. KENNEDY;
Sup't of Common Schools, W. F. MCLARAY;
Surveyor, HARRY A. EVANS;
Coroner, ARCH CARSON.

THE object of Judge Robert Boyd's visit to Frankfort was not with relation to Harlan county affairs at all as the newspapers got it. It was for the purpose of securing the passage of a law, requiring the governor to send a special judge to try a case in which the regular judge has been sworn off. At present all that is required for an offender to secure a judge of his own choosing is to swear the regular judge off the bench, simply because he fears justice, and then his attorneys, with the assistance of their friends can elect some incompoop, qualified only to do their bidding. In some districts, especially where the judge is disposed to follow the letter of the law, the practice is exceedingly common, and has been the means of many a guilty scoundrel going unwhipped of justice. If the judiciary committee of the legislature is not composed of "small headed gentlemen with license to practice law" simply, as Mr. Rudy, the member from Daviess county, charges, it will bring in a bill to remedy the evil complained of by Judge Boyd and see that it becomes a law.

The Danville Advocate says there are 8 places in Danville where government license is held to sell liquor, which is not a good showing for that town, which adopted local years ago and boasts of the benefit of the law. The paper wants a law passed by the legislature "making the mere ownership of a government license to sell liquors prima facie evidence of the guilt of the accused. As the law now stands it is almost impossible to convict those who do sell. Persons who deal in liquor on the sly are afraid to fool with the general government, but they manage easily to avoid the penalty of State and municipal law. Fix the matter so that there can be no dodging the subject." We heartily concur in the proposition and would rejoice to see every man who deals in whisky unlawfully punished to the fullest degree.

AFTER a tempestuous and varied career, ex-Senator Riddleberger, of Virginia, has gone the way of all flesh, at the early age of 45. He served with distinction in the Confederate army, rising from a private to captain of artillery. After the war he became editor of the Valley Virginian and soon became a leader in politics. He was afterwards elected to the State Senate, in which he introduced the famous "re-adjuster bill," which brought him into greater prominence and finally made him U.S. Senator. Since then his disagreement with Mahone, his independent and erratic course in the Senate and his frequent freaks of action outside of that body have brought him very prominently before the country and given him much notoriety.

SOMETIMES since a man went to a Pennsylvania restaurant and called for dinner. A nice lay-out was brought to him and after partaking of it to his appetite's desire, he proceeded to pack up what was left to take with him. The proprietor objected and the man insisted, but he had finally to leave without the food. He brought suit against the restaurant man, which after running the gauntlet of the courts below has just been decided in his favor by the Supreme Court, which held that a man has a right to gather up the remnants of a meal served him and paid for, and carry away what he has not eaten. In other words, when a man buys a meal and his stomach is under size, he can fill his pockets as well.

PRESIDENT HARRISON has no use for a rascal that permits himself to be found out. He dropped Blocks-of-Five Dudley like a cold potato and the other day when Foraker called on him he absolutely froze him out within five minutes. He talked to him in such a distant and disdainful manner that the little Ohio man, finding the interview getting more and more painful, beat a hasty retreat. The ballot box forgery business has killed Little Breeches dealer than a mackerel with all honest men and if he lived anywhere else but in Ohio, his resurrection from the political grave would be impossible.

THE Richmond Register doesn't take much stock in Col. Burnham's alleged candidacy for Congress in this district, as is evidenced by the following: Burnham is an honorable, honest official, an able lawyer and a good fellow all around, and we rejoice at his luck, but we will give bond, that unless he manifests a change of heart and principles, he will never represent the 8th district in Congress.

The Senate has voted to make a bad law worse by giving the penitentiary commission authority to parole as many convicts as they wish. The present law limits them to 5 per cent.

NELLIE BLY reached New York Saturday afternoon, having circled the earth in the remarkable time of 72 days, 6 hours and 11 minutes. She started Nov. 14th across the Atlantic on orders from the New York World and on the same day Miss Elizabeth Bisland commenced her journey across the continent via California for the Cosmopolitan Magazine. Their race around the world has created great interest, as it has been nip and tuck till Miss Bisland missed a fast steamer connection and had to come over the Atlantic in one of the slow-going vessels. She will, however, make the journey in five or six days less than the time named in Jules Verne's charming novel. Miss Bly was given a grand reception on her arrival in New York for the remarkable grit and pluck she displayed. Both ladies traveled without escorts and with no more baggage than they were compelled to have.

BEAUTY may be but skin deep, but it goes a long ways in this world. A beautiful young woman was put on trial at Asheville, N. C., last week for the murder of her husband. It was proved that he bought a pair of shoes for her, but got drunk on his way home and lost them. She ordered him to return and look for them, but he was unsuccessful and she blew his brains out with a shot-gun. The woman admitted the killing, and offered nothing in extenuation of the crime, and yet the jury refused to convict her. Her beauty saved her and proved that in her case at least the gift was not a fatal one to her.

VIRGINIA's peerless orator, Senator John W. Daniel, delivered an address on the life, character and services of Jefferson Davis before the general assembly at Richmond, Va., in response to an invitation, which is described as one of the finest efforts in that line ever attempted. The theme and the audience were enough to inspire to brilliant utterance even a less gifted word painter than the distinguished gentleman who represents the Old Dominion in the Upper House of Congress.

EDITOR T. D. MARCUS, of the Catlettsburg Democrat, and wife, celebrated the 25th anniversary of their marriage last week, when they were the recipients of enough silverware to set up their handsome children, Miss Maud and Fletch, in housekeeping. Mr. Marcus's article on his married life shows that in one very decided instance marriage has not proved a failure.

GEORGE LOUNSBERRY, cashier of the New York postoffice, committed suicide when his stealege to the amount of $25,000 was found out. If all the republicans who default would do likewise, the chances for another election of a republican president would go sweetly a-glittering.

LEGISLATIVE DOINGS.

About 400 bills have already been introduced in the House.

The bill to pay sheriffs $2 a day for waiting on courts was defeated.

The House has passed Mr. Tomlinson's bill to re-inburse E. W. Lillard for fines paid and afterwards declared illegal.

The local option law to be submitted to the people of Boyle gives wholesale dealers the right to sell in quantities and distillers also, provided the amount sold is 10 gallons or more.

The governor revised his list and then sent in the appointment of the following commissioners for the Kentucky Institution for the Deaf and Dumb at Danville: J. W. Proctor, G. V. Lee, M. D. Logan, John W. Powell, B. O. Rhodes, and S. A. Newell.

Mr. Warren's joint resolution for the reapportionment of the State into Senatorial and Representative districts together with an enumeration of qualified voters, all of which is a more or less direct blow at the constitutional convention, was called up and adopted.

The Senate passed a bill to amend the statutes so as to make it an assault to draw or point at a person even an unloaded pistol. Also to make it a felony to shoot at any person from ambush.

Punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary from 1 to 10 years.

Mr. Smith, of Graves, has introduced an important bill which raises the limit of petit larceny to $20, and provides for the punishment of all petit larcenies by whipping, except in cases of females. Make the limit $25, pass the bill and hundreds of thousands of dollars will be saved to the State yearly.

NEWS CONDENSED

Herr Most, the red-mouthed anarchist, was given a year in the pen at New York for making an incendiary speech.

The crew of the British bark, Ulster, would have perished from thirst, while the vessel was blown about in a disabled condition, had not a great hail storm come. They gathered the stones up and melted them. This is almost equal to the manna in the wilderness.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

Monday — yesterday — was county court day and next Monday our circuit court begins.

Master Tommie Miller has been confined to his room for several days with a gripe.

McGinty has just returned from Middlesboro, where he invested $900 in corner lots and sold them in 2½ minutes for a clean net profit of $93,000.

Garrard College has had several new boarding scholars to come in for the next term. The school is in a flourishing condition and the patrons are delighted with its management.

The much talked of postoffice mudhole here is at last settled. After his disappearance before the powers that be dressed in his best suit of clothes, Assistant Postmaster General Clarkson, has ordered a commission issued to McGinty.

W. S. Ferguson and R. A. Beazley inform us that they have just finished staking off their farms near here as Middlesboro extensions and now offer some choice lots on Cumberland and Petersburg avenues for $175 per rear foot. They quote these low prices only to Lancaster purchasers.

A little colored boy living with Clark Farris was stabbed in the abdomen with a pocket knife by a son of Jack Bourne on last Saturday. The colored boy, it is claimed, shot at the Bourne boy with a gun sling which caused the alteration between them and the cutting was the result. They were respectively about 14 years old.

The Adams party, Thursday night, was the jolliest of the season. There was dancing going on in three rooms at the same time and to music by two bands located in different parts of the house convenient for the dancers. The crowd took their leave at 4 o'clock in the morning, a little disfigured but still in the ring. There were 148 couples present. Another one on equally as large a scale will likely come off next week.

The ministers have opened their batters from the pulpit upon the trippers of the light fantastic toe and have fired some pretty hot shot, which seems to have had the effect of making the young people skip around the more lively. There has been more dancing here this winter than ever before and ministers ought to know what all common, everyday mortals do, that you can't force or abuse a free American people into doing anything.

The remains of Mrs. Virginia O'Bannon, widow of Elijah O'Bannon, and mother-in-law of Wm. Martin, of Richmond, were brought here and interred in our cemetery Thursday evening. She had been in bad health for some time but not confined to her bed, and it was thought she was improving in health, when unexpectedly she was found dead in bed at her daughter's, Mrs. Martin's, on Wednesday morning at 7 o'clock. The deceased was in her 68th year.

Mr. Ferrier, agent for the New York Life Insurance Company, was here last week and paid over to Mr. W. R. Robinson $5,054 on an endowment policy. Mr. Ferrier was trying to induce A. T. Noel to take out a policy of the same character and arguing as inducements Mr. Robinson's good luck, when Mr. Noel said instead of taking out a policy "I will step over and get what you have paid Mr. Robinson" and so he did get a portion by selling Mr. Robinson's Middlesboro lots.

The INTERIOR JOURNAL is on the right track when it says that high license seems to be the best way to regulate the liquor traffic. Stanford has tried prohibition and its best citizens do not seem to be satisfied that prohibition is, after all, the best thing. While going to Stanford Saturday we noticed a colored man get off the train with a large valise in his hand, and it was so heavy that he swung it as he carried it along. We could hear the clinking of the bottles inside as we passed him, and it was no doubt part of the supply of whisky that daily and nightly goes to that prohibition town.

We also understand from a reliable source that there are 41 places in the prohibition town of Danville where liquor is sold and each place has a government license. If this is prohibition we do not want any of it. Somerset tried it once and our people know how well prohibition prohibited here. — Somerset Republican.

Are still in the business and ready to do anything in the undertaking line. We have a full stock of Cases and Caskets of all kinds and robes of every description. Our prices are very reasonable. New can be obtained on short notice. Mr. J. H. Green has charge of our business and will show our goods to any one needing anything in our line.

JUST THE THING!

You are looking for a place where you can go safely and make your purchases without fear of misrepresentation. Our success loudly proclaims our reliability. This week

Everything Goes at Half Their Value.

Every Overcoat in the house goes! Every Suit Goes! Every ladies Cloak, every ladies' Jacket and every Misses' and Child's Cloak goes!

Overcoats! we've lots of 'em; no remnant lots or hard stock, but fine, well made, well trimmed garments, best to be had in this town; and they all go for half their regular price.

FARM AND TRADE ITEMS.

J. B. Owsley sold to Newell, of Wayne, 21 cotton mules at $80.

Givens & Carter bought in Whitley county 9 cotton mules at $75 to $100.

From Delaware comes the complaint that the present cold weather caught the peach and apricot buds in full bloom.

Curtis & Ross, of Silver Creek, purchased of Owen Taylor a fine young jack, by Bourbon Chief, for $700. — Richmond Register.

John Mann sold to John Sagasser his lambs of May delivery at 6 and last of June delivery at 5 cents. — Harrodsburg Democrat.

Col. Hobson's large barn and stables at Bowling Green burned with 13 head of horses and mules and all his farming implements. Loss $4,000.

A glance at the Lexington Gazette reminds one that the "horse season" is again nearly on us. That paper is already beginning to blossom forth with cuts and pedigrees of gentlemen horses.

M. F. Elkin bought of Dan Stagg, Jr. a nice bunch of shoats at $1, lot of W. P. Carson at same price and another lot of James Givens for April delivery at same price.

J. D. Allen killed a hog last Tuesday that weighed 707 pounds net; gross it would have weighed not less than $50 pounds. It was 30 months old, Poland-China stock. — Liberty Press.

During 1880 the receipts of live stock at Chicago were over 11,000,000 head, against 9,100,000 in 1888. This is an increase of nearly 1,000,000 over 1885, the previous banner year. The valuation of the stock sold approximated $200,000,000, against $183,144,010 in 1888 and $106,101,879 in 1878.

The value of the taxable property of Woodford county as listed and returned by the assessor for 1890 is $8,319,340. Wm. Kenny sold by telegraph to Cincinnati parties 500 barrels of pork at $10.27 per cwt. He bought it at $9.53 per hundred. — Midway Clipper.

W. C. Cash sold to J. W. Herndon, of Madison, an aged jack, a jack colt, 3 aged jennets, 2 do. 2-year-olds and 3 jennets colts for $1,750. He also sold a mixed lot of 50 cattle to Tom Wood at $1. This makes nearly $5,000 worth of stock sold by Mr. Cash in the last two weeks.

The Lebanon Enterprise says the large mule buyers, Mattingly, Simms & Leonard came near being forced to make an assignment, owing to the fact that they have given a lot of notes falling due in advance of those held from parties in the South. The matter was arranged by Mr. Leonard giving a mortgage on his property for $30,000.

Mrs. WM. GEER spent Sunday with her husband at Jellico.

ANDY FISH, of Mt. Vernon, was here the last of the week.

MISS BELLA ROOT is visiting Mrs. W. I. Letcher at Paint Lick.

MISS MAY ADAMS, of Mt. Vernon, is visiting Mrs. Joseph Severance.

Mrs. W. J. SPARKS went up to see her home folks at Mt. Vernon Sunday.

JOE COHEN, formerly of this county, has gone into the hotel business at Midway.

MISS MAGGIE NEWLAND has returned from a month's visit to friends in Carlisle.

Mrs. H. A. EVANS' private school closed Friday after a five-months' session.

THE Messenger says Mr. Harvey Helm, of Stanford, is among the heavy investors in real estate in Pineville.

Mrs. CANDACE HUGHES, of Bloomington, Ill., is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. M. Wray, after a long interval.

MR. AND MRS. J. T. LYNN have named their first born Mary Wray, in honor of Mrs. Wray and Miss Nettie.

AMONG the pretty girls from Hustonville here last week were Misses Ida and Lizzie Twidwell and Jessie Cook.

MR. JOHN M. McROBERTS returned from LaGrange yesterday and reports Mrs. Charley McRoberts still alive, but with poor chances of recovery.

MR. J. W. ALCORN has returned from Frankfort. He says no member stands higher in the good will of the legislators than our own, Richard Crutchfield Warren.

MISS CLAUDIA AND MINNIE DRYE, of Bradfordsville, and Miss Lizzie Drye, of Hustonville, with Messrs. J. B. Cook, J. C. Reid, J. P. Hopper, of Hustonville, were in town Sunday.

THE Lancaster News says Capt. Frank J. White, the lightning compositor, celebrated his 70th birthday last week. The old gentleman is still hale and hearty and destined, we hope, to live many a year yet.

THE signature of "W. W. Dudley" was scrawled on one of our hotel registers the other day, but those who expected to see the notorious blocks-of-five man were disappointed. The name was modestly worn by an individual who was drumming for a soap house.

MR. JAMES ROBINSON is back from Middlesboro, where he invested $4,500, paying $150 a foot for lots. He is perfectly wild with enthusiasm over the prospects of the place and says he would invest the last dollar he has, if he could convert his property into money.

HARRY TURNER, Esq., a bright young lawyer of Richmond, was here Friday, returning from Mt. Vernon, where he had been to defend Jennie Laman, charged with infanticide. No witnesses appeared, so she gave a nominal bond and was discharged till circuit court.

CITY AND VICINITY.

HIGHEST price paid for hides. M. F. Elkin.

FIFTEEN pounds of nice brown sugar for $1. S. S. Myers.

A FIRST-CLASS STATE-ROOM for rent, Centrally located in Stanford. T. W. Miller.

THE Vulcan Chilled is the coming plow. Sold and warranted by T. Metcalfe.

NEAR Lily Friday, 17 freight cars got into the ditch and delayed the passenger train four hours. The pecuniary damage was slight.

THE Fisher heirs are going to meet at the Louisville Hotel, Louisville, Feb. 6, to devise ways and means for getting that $51,000,000 in Germany.

S. D. GOOCH was not killed as reported but he was badly cut and shot by a man named Sims. Gooch is a bad egg and his assailant is evidently no better.

POSTMASTER J. R. MARRS, at Danville, writes us that our papers had not arrived there Saturday. We shall see if Capt. H. B. Jenks can't remedy this carelessness.

OUR people are just beginning to take the Middlesboro fever, but they are taking it bad. Every train carries a number of investors thither, but we fear they have delayed the day of grace beyond the limit.

AFTER trying the other route and taking twice as long to reach Richmond, Mr. T. R. Walton says what we have said all along, stick to the old C. & O. When you get on that there are no connections to miss to Richmond and other points.

I WILL sell half soles at 20 cts. and up. T. J. Hatcher.

OVERCOATS, cloaks and heavy boots at cost at S. L. Powers & Co's.

FOR SALE, a three horse power engine in good order. Apply to W. P. Walton.

MRS. SARAH GOOCH has brought suit for divorce from her husband, S. D. Gooch.

AUNT MILLY HUGHES, a worthy old colored woman, died Friday of the prevailing disease.

THERE was $5,000 insurance on the life of Rev. S. S. McRoberts in the Equitable Life of New York.

THE Advocate reports the taxable property of Boyle at $6,389,223, which is $193,648 less than last year. People are evidently catching on to ways to beat the new law.

I WILL sell 20 shares of stock in the First National Bank of Stanford on next county court day in February to the highest bidder, unless sold privately before. H. T. Bush.

THREE members of the INTERIOR JOURNAL force were down with the gripe at one time and they all agree if the torments of the damned are anything in comparison with it they will strive more earnestly than ever to escape them.

THE fine Jersey cows owned by Messrs. J. W. Hayden and James T. Craig got to a barrel of rye flour and ate till it gave them the founder from which they died. They were each worth over $100 and Mr. Craig especially prized his as it was a gift from Dr. Hawkins Brown.

BROKE HIS SKULL.—Ex-Coroner James Daugherty struck his son, William, on the head with a rock a few days ago and it is said crushed his skull. Sometime ago William and his wife parted and he took his children to Mr. Daugherty's. They made up last week and wanted to get the children, when the old man objected. He persisted in going in the house for them, when the rock was thrown with such fearful result. It is said that the wounded man will die.

MRS. PORIE T. COURTS received official notification of her appointment as postmaster of Stanford from Mr. Wanamaker Friday, with the bond and other papers necessary to be prepared and forwarded, before the issue of the commission. These have all been attended to, her bond being made without any effort on her part. Mrs. Courts has not decided whom she will appoint for assistant yet. At present this is not necessary, for Capt. Richards will cheerfully assist her till she gets the "hang" of the office. We believe the appointment is the best that could have been made and that Mrs. Courts will fill the office acceptably alike to the department and the people.

ELSEWHERE in this issue will be found the proceedings of the anti-saloon meeting held here Saturday as officially reported by Secretary P. L. Simpson. The meeting was not large nor unusually enthusiastic, but those composing it seemed fairly in earnest. One trouble about the meetings of such bodies is their lack of knowledge of how to proceed. No one seems to know exactly what to do and there are long and tiresome waits that make one nervous and impatient. This was evidenced Saturday by more than two-thirds of the 65 persons present getting up and leaving some time before adjournment. Or was it to avoid the inevitable collection? Let some of the closest-listed find out.

FROM an advertisement which appears elsewhere in this issue, it will be seen that the reorganized Pine Mountain Coal Co. has had considerable new blood and capital infused into it. The gentlemen represent the fully the developments of the material interests of Southeastern Kentucky, and they are in a position to aid materially in these undertakings. Since this reorganization, Pineville property has taken on quite a remarkable degree of activity. The company made large sales during the first week of January, nearly all of which property has been sold and re-sold from 50 to 300 per cent. advance. The company itself will not sell any more property until Feb. 5th, at which time a limited number of lots will be given back to the dust from whence it came.

—Brutus Crooke, late of Madison, died at died at his home in Kansas City last week, aged 57.

—Jessie, little daughter of Master Mechanic C. H. Sinclair, died at Rowland yesterday of typhoid pneumonia. The remains will be taken to Louisville to-day for interment.

—Miss Sophoria Menefee died at Mr. R. G. Collier's Friday morning, of pneumonia. She was 80-old and her long life had been spent in the Baptist church, which will find an irreparable loss in her death. Her remains were interred in the burying ground at Mr. S. B. Pennington's Saturday.

—Adam Forepaugh, the veteran circus manager, died of a gripe, at Philadelphia, aged 68. He leaves a wife and one son, Adam Jr., who will succeed to his immense circus property. Mr. Forepaugh was originally a butcher, but many years ago he embarked in the circus business, in which he was very successful, getting together a most extensive circus and menagerie, with which he amassed a fortune which is estimated at more than $1,000,000. He was also a large real estate owner.

—Hon. T. J. McGibben died at Cynthiana Thursday, aged 50. He was a well known distiller and breeder of fine stock and was one of the first to pay big prices for fine cattle, and when he paid $30,000 for a heifer in the early days he was regarded as a very daring man. He owned Springbok, a famous horse in his time, and many other animals who won laurels on the race course and bequeathed their speed to a numerous progeny. Besides an estate valued at half to a million of dollars, he carried life insurance of $100,000.

NOTWITHSTANDING we print the date to which each subscriber has paid for his paper on the label with his name, to constantly remind him of his standing on our books, it seems that not one in a hundred understands it. We get letters every day from subscribers asking how they stand, when a simple glance at their label would tell the tale. For instance, if you have paid up for this year, your date would read "1Jan90." If you have not and your date reads "1Jan90," it shows that you are in arrears for this year's subscription, which is always due in advance. Unfortunately for us, some of the dates are behind. If you have paid up for this year, your date would read "1Mar89," it means that you owe us $2.50 to "1Mar90" and that you ought to forward it at once. Only cash-in-advance subscribers are appreciated in this or any other newspaper office.

It is surprising that people will use a common remedy when they can secure a valuable English one for the same money. Dr. Acker's English pills are a positive cure for sick headache and all liver troubles. They are small, sweet, easily taken and do not gripe. For sale by A. R. Penny.

DEATHS' DOINGS.

—McROBERTS.—A long, eventful and useful life came peacefully to a close at 9 p. m. Sunday, when Rev. Sidney S. McRoberts calmly closed his eyes on earth to awaken in His likeness and enjoy the reward prepared for the finally faithful. He was born at the old homestead now occupied by Mrs. Milt Raney, on Hawkins' Branch, in this county, May 25th, 1807, and was therefore 83 years of age. Graduating at Centre College in its earliest days, he immediately entered the ministry of the Northern Presbyterian Church and about 1828 took charge of his first church at Vicksburg, Miss. He remained there six or seven years, when he returned to Kentucky and in 1839 married Miss Ellenora Rizer, of Bardstown. To them seven children were born, five of whom, with his good wife, were visiting—Messrs. John J., A. A. (of Montana) W. B., Dr. O. H. and P. M. McRoberts, all of whom have done well in life.

For several years succeeding his marriage Mr. McRoberts was editor of the Protestant and Herald, a church paper published in Louisville, and about 1843 he came back to the place of his birth, where he held the positions of pastor of the old Presbyterian church and teacher of the Seminary till 1858.

In 1862 he was appointed circuit clerk to fill an unexpired term, and was subsequently elected to a full term. He was afterwards master commissioner under Judge Fox, which with his long connection with the surveyor's office, gave him an unusually lengthy period of public life, and it is said of him that he did more business for the county than any man ever in it. For a number of years he has not been able to fill the pulpit, but he continued to serve the church almost to the last, being for nearly 30 years the stated clerk of the Synod and Presbytery. He was a delegate to the General Assembly at Philadelphia in 1870 and many times in his ministry was the recipient of honors, which showed how highly he was held in the estimation of the church and people.

He retired from active labors about five years ago on account of bodily infirmity, but he retained his mental powers to the last and was a most interesting conversationalist. He was the connecting link of the long past with the present, and having a wonderful memory, he could give the minutest detail of every question upon which he was approached. Many persons sought him with reference to boundary lines, which he had run nearly 50 years ago, and remarkable as it may appear he could in many instances cite them to the exact tree, or other mark necessary to identification, with unerring precision. Faithful to every obligation of life, true to the cause of his Redeemer and loving and tender to his family and friends, no man has left this life with a clearer record or a brighter prospect for eternal joys. There is general sorrow over the demise of such a man and sincere sympathy for the family, especially for the wife, who for 50 years or more made him a loving helpmeet. May the knowledge that he is so much better off temper the blow and make her bow with humble acquiescence to the Father's will. This morning at 10 o'clock at the Presbyterian church, Revs. J. C. Randolph and Ben Henn will officiate in the funeral exercises and then the body will be given back to the dust from whence it came.
